

Col Eric Flake, M.D.

Col Eric Flake, M.D. is the program director of only Department of Defense (DoD) Developmental Behavioral Pediatrics Fellowship at Joint Base Lewis McChord, Tacoma Washington and the founder of the DoD Autism Center JBLM CARES. He attended the military medical school (USUHS) graduating in 2001. Dr Flake is board certified both in Pediatrics and Developmental and Behavioral Pediatrics. Dr. Flake has published numerous articles and presentations regarding the psychosocial effects of deployment on children and autism. Dr Flake is an Associate Professor at the Uniform Services University and an Assistant Professor at the University of Washington.