Elizabeth McDaniel is the founder and Head of School at an independent lab school for early learning research. The foundation of her school is rooted in social and emotional learning, project-based learning and the 4Cs (critical thinking, creativity, collaboration and communication.

Elizabeth’s doctoral research focuses on the implementation of social-emotional learning within K-12 schools.